It appears the applicant is alleging the Faris et al., reference is nonanalogous art and can't be combined with Roberts et al.,. However, in response to applicant's argument that Faris et al., is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Faris discloses an internet-based system for synchronizing time-constrained events on plurality of devices. Hence, Faris reference is in the field of applicant's endeavor. Furthermore, Faris reference is relied upon by the examiner for the teaching of "transmitting or sending an activation signal through the network for allowing a scheduled event to be simultaneously played on the plurality of client apparatus" (see col. 23, lines 26-60).
